Managing natural hazard risks together!

Action Group 8, Risk and Governance, has published a report on the EUSALP website providing an analysis of existing natural hazard models. The report, produced by the University of the German Federal Armed Forces in Munich, provides best practice methodologies and is available in English and German.

Action Group 8 has also published a video calling for action and cooperation on natural hazard management in the Alpine region.

Fifth and final infographic on cross-sectoral strategies

Last but not least, the unveiling of the latest infographic on the 5 cross-sectoral themes.

For the record, we have already published those on: Smart villages, Innovation hub, Carbon neutral & EUSALP Innovation Facility (EIF).

You can find the full set of illustrations on the AlpGov2 deliverables page.
Euromontana has published its annual brochure of good practices for the sustainable development of mountain areas. It contains 17 good practices on a wide range of topics, from agriculture to youth, education, energy or mobility services in mountain areas.

These initiatives come from 12 European mountain countries, including the Alps, and present replicable solutions. This booklet is available in French and English on the Euromontana website.

Kick-Off Italian Presidency 2022

After the successful French Presidency, the Autonomous Provinces of Bolzano/Bozen and Trento are taking over the Presidency in 2022, in a period of great uncertainty and urgency due to the sanitary situation.

Building on the initiatives of the preceding Presidency, the Italian EUSALP Presidency 2022 will be inspired by the ambition of making the Alpine region the first European carbon-neutral macro-region, in line with the EU Climate Action and the European Green Deal in the long term. The full programme of this new presidency is available online.

YOUTH

This was the final of Pitch Your Project 2021

At the EUSALP Annual Forum 2021, which took place in Nice, France, the young people of the five finalist projects of PITCH YOUR PROJECT 2021 pitched their ideas with short videos and answered questions from the audience on stage.

The prizes were presented by Sławomir Tokarski, Director, European Territorial Cooperation, Macro-regions, Interreg and Programme Implementation I, in the DG REGIO of the European Commission, and Liliane Lucchesi, Regional Councilor Delegate of the French region Bourgogne-Franche-Comté. The first vice-president of the Tyrolean Parliament, Sophia Kircher, gave an opening speech in which she encouraged the young people to continue on their path.

The Youth Council proposed a workshop on youth networks

Between 13. and 15.12.2021 the EUSALP annual forum 2021 took place in Nice. The Youth Council took an important role in this event, as it was officially confirmed in the General Assembly.

In addition, some of the youth councilors also organized a workshop on “Cooperation between the different youth networks in the Alpine region”. The workshop was one of the best attended workshops of the annual forum with more than 40 participants and was led by Thomas Wimmer and Timothy Sung. They were supported by Natael Fautrat and Finn Wilkesmann in the implementation and planning.
